

DCFPI Intern: Spring 2020

The DC Fiscal Policy Institute (DCFPI) has one intern in the fall, spring, and summer semesters. The typical length of an internship is one semester (approximately 10-12 weeks). We are currently accepting applications for Spring 2020.

Intern projects are designed in conjunction with DCFPI's needs as well as the intern's skills and interests. Work may include assisting with research projects, writing blogs, covering hearings, and attending coalition meetings.

Applicants should have a strong commitment to social, economic, and racial justice. Use your cover letter to tell us how an internship with DCFPI will help you as you think about your career path. We're eager to attract candidates who would especially benefit from working with us, including those seeking their first policy experience or those who are first-generation college students. Applicants should expect to do a mix of research, writing, and administrative tasks. Knowledge (and love) of DC is a plus.

Compensation

- Undergraduate students receive $14 per hour.
- Students with a bachelor's degree receive $15 per hour.
- Students with a graduate degree or higher receive $16 per hour.

How to Apply

- Please submit a cover letter and resume to jobs@dcfpi.org
 - The email subject line should be "Internship Application"
 - The cover letter filename should be lastname.coverletter.intern
 - The resume filename should be lastname.resume.intern •
- Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. We encourage people of color, women, LGBTQIA+, and people with disabilities to apply

DC Fiscal Policy Institute (DCFPI) is an Equal Opportunity Employer that values and welcomes diversity in the workplace and strongly encourages all qualified persons to apply regardless of any protected status under federal or local law including minorities/ women/ disabilities/ veterans.